

PC Clinic

Terms of Service Agreement

The Wayne State University (WSU) division of Computing & Information Technology (C&IT) provides limited computer diagnostic and repair services on supported personal computers of WSU students, faculty, and staff (Customer).

- C&IT staff may install software to clean and protect the computer while providing these services.
- Some services can erase files on the customer's hard drive; therefore, it is the customer's responsibility to make and retain copies of all data and program files prior to using the services.
- All payments are due in full before the computer will be returned to the customer.

The customer agrees that all services are provided without warranty of any kind, neither expressed nor implied. WSU shall have no liability for any act or omission in providing services. WSU further reserves the right to refuse to provide services to any individual for any reason or no reason or to cease generally offering services.

I agree to and accept the above and hereby release my computer to the C&IT PC Clinic for service and agree that I shall make no claim of any kind against WSU related to such service.
